ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME TO HEBRIDEANS CROWDS THROUGH THE STATIONS

Stirring Addresses by the Mayor and Prominent Citizens

Red Deer gave a rousing reception to the Hebridean immigrants who arrived yesterday, part over the C.P.R. at 10:45 a.m., and the balance of the party at 5:00 p.m. over the C.N.R. Hundreds of citizens and residents of the surrounding districts were at the depot to welcome them.

As the newcomers disembarked, they found facing them a large banner with the words, "Welcome! Red Deer District has done well. You will help it to do better." They also faced the huge crowd, and for a moment appeared rather shy.

R. B. Welliver, chairman of the reception committee appointed by the Board of Trade, welcomed the new comers and introduced to them Dr. John Collison, Mayor of Red Deer; E. S. Hogg, President of the Red Deer Board of Trade; H. G. Scott and A. Paton, on behalf of the Red Deer and Andrew's Societies; and J. L. Stewart, President of the Evansdale Caledonian Society, and Piper A. McPherson, an old timer in the district. These men made very brief addresses, welcoming and encouraging the new immigrants. The speakers agreed that in the Red Deer District at least, no one need be in actual want or discomfort if he was willing to work.

Mr. Gillespie and Mr. McDonald, who were in charge of the party, replied briefly, and the party were then taken in cars that were kindly donated by citizens, and then presented headquarters at the old Industrial School, six miles west. It has accommodations for all of them and is admirably suited as a home until they are prepared to take up farms of their own, or get work with farmers in the district.

The newcomers are mostly middle-aged men, married, and with families. A few very young men were in the party, these being, we understand, detained in Manitoba. They have been used to "killing" with nature for their living, and, judging by their hearty applause, appreciation of the remarks of the speakers that they would win if they worked.

It is understood that the Soldiers' Settlement Board will help such of them as wish to buy farms. At the moment time of none of them intend to go on farms of their own, but will hire out to good farms and study farming methods in the district, and especially in the Red Deer District.

Mr. Gillespie is at once returning to the Hebrides, but stated that he hoped to return and bring more of his people with him.

As the speakers briefly described the Hebrideans, these are the class of people that keep their Sabbath and work hard. Father Gillespie said in his address that there was not in their veins one drop of blood disloyal to the British Empire.

The citizens of Red Deer by their attitude yesterday showed that they appreciate the fact that the newcomers are so well equipped to the district if they can be persuaded to make their permanent homes here, while they are the guests of their hosts in Canada.

GOLF NOTES

Very few of the members are turning in their scores as requested, consequently the handicap committee has decided to put on the President vs. Vice-President match on a medal play basis, and without handicaps. The committee will then use the scores turned in in this match for the purpose of fixing the handicaps.

The draw has been posted at the Clubhouse. Every playing member is asked to turn in his score, and if he is unable to do so, to have his score taken by his or her card signed by him or her opponent. All matches in this event will be played by Monday, May 14th.

The Button competition will open during the week commencing Monday, May 14th. There are two classes, one for the two players having the lowest net scores will be entitled to the possession of the button, and the other for the two players having the highest net scores. All male members are requested to enter this competition. This is a handicap game and there is no fee. All that is necessary is to get a card at the Clubhouse and play two consecutive rounds, having your card signed by your opponent and then your card in at the Secretary's desk before Monday, May 21st.

The first mixed two ball foursome match will be played during the week of the week commencing Monday, May 21st.

The draw as well as the rules governing the competition will be placed shortly on the notice board at the Clubhouse.

The ladder competition will be started as soon as the handicaps are fixed. There will be a ladies' ladder, consisting as well as a gentlemen's. The rules governing the play will be posted along with the draw.

RED DEER V. LACOMBE

BASKETBALL

The Grade VIII girls of Red Deer defeated Lacombe last Friday for their first district game this season. As Lacombe had no grade VIII team, the game was played on the first team of the Lacombe High School.

The game was not up to the usual standard of the district, and much inaccuracy in shooting, especially for Lacombe, kept the score low. Lacombe guards were very good and outwards only got past them for a few baskets. Lacombe, however, made a few baskets in the first half, and was very free from fouls and was ably assisted by Miss Reid, of the Red Deer school.

The line-up was as follows:

A return game will be played at Lacombe on Friday at the High School Sports Day, when the Red Deer High School meets Red Deer High School.

Brumpton & Gaetz, Limited

A 500 mile cruise in ocean waters, via Grand Trunk Pacific steamships, from Vancouver to Alaska Coast, along the "Inside Passage," affords all the delights of ocean travel combined with superb scenery. It is impossible to over-estimate the value of a sea trip as a restorative for tired mind and body. Seated on the spacious decks of the S.S. "Prince Rupert" or S.S. "Prince George" looking over the wild waste of waters, inhaling the invigorating purity of salt sea air, one is enraptured by the subtle presence of the sea, the lingual swell of the waves, and the wash of the water against the ship's side. The above pictures give an inkling of the jolly times spent on board one of these palatial steamships; every hour being filled with enjoyment, who has not spent in contemplation of the beauty of nature or in the happy social life which develops as the journey proceeds, with deck games, concerts, no chances were taken by the author.

PICARIELLO AND LASANDRO DIE ON GALLOWES; PROTEST THEIR INNOCENCE TO LAST

Both Prisoners Mount Gallowes in Good Mental and Physical Condition After Good Night and Normal Breakfast; Woman Displays Greatest Fortitude Throughout.

Fort Saskatchewan, May 2.—The double hanging of Emilio Picariello and Mrs. Florence Lasandro, convicted murderers of Constable S. O. Lawson, at Coleman, Alta., last September, was carried out at Fort Saskatchewan yesterday at daylight this morning. Picariello paid the penalty at 5:10 and Mrs. Lasandro at 5:20.

Both protested their innocence to the last.

Mrs. Lasandro is the first woman to be hanged in Canada for 24 years and the fifth since Confederation. Emilio Picariello and his accomplice, Mrs. Florence Lasandro, spent the last night of their lives in a resigned condition at the provincial jail at Fort Saskatchewan, before going to the gallows this morning.

Just before dying, Picariello said: "You are hanging an innocent man—God help me. His request to the priest was that the black cap be put over his eyes but, of course, this was not permitted, as the prison authorities had no authority for such action."

Mrs. Lasandro's statement on the scaffold was: "Why do you hang me when I didn't do anything? Is there anyone here who has any pity? Just before the trap was sprung she begged everybody."

No disposition has been made of the bodies at yet. According to Sheriff Rae, as no newspaper men were permitted at the hanging, both prisoners went to their doom in good mental and physical condition and the woman seemed to have the most fortitude and vitality. Both ate a normal breakfast and spent a good night.

Everything went off without a hitch, declared the sheriff. Outside of the coroner's jury of six, there were but a few civilians at the scene, and a few officers of the law.

Fully aware of the powerful influence of the law, Picariello and Lasandro, old confederates, and his 22-year-old confederate, Florence Lasandro, no chances were taken by the author.

His last night in guarding the provincial jail, where Picariello was under the death watch in the main building, and Mrs. Lasandro in the women's department, some distance away. Both the condemned had maintained perfect health and the woman throughout the early stages of the night was calm.

Attended by Priest
Picariello was sullen and morose. Both were attended during the night by Father Fideles, Roman Catholic priest, who was with them again immediately before the execution.

Although Florence Lasandro in her eleventh hour confusion claimed it was not she who killed Lawson, her statements shortly after the shooting were to the effect that she did the shooting, not Picariello. It is claimed by the police that "she" in his daring run running exploits from Fernie, B.C. to Blainmore and Coleman, Alta. for many months, constantly had the Lasandro girl with him, and thus made it impossible for the officers to use their guns on him or the car when ordered to stop.

Rise to Wealth
Back in 1912, "Pic" was a gatherer of bottles and other junk, as well as an operator of a peanut stand in the Crow's Nest Pass, so officials of the provincial police declare. His accession to wealth and power came rapidly when whisky running across the Alberta-British Columbia border became profitable some years ago. He was town councillor at Blainmore as well as owner of the Blainmore hotel and garage. He was Sicilian by birth. Mrs. Lasandro was an Italian.

Fort Saskatchewan, May 2.—Within the high forbidding walls of the jail here, in the gloom down with low clouds scudding across a fretful morning sky, Mary Florence Lasandro today followed Emilio Picariello to the scaffold. The sun had scarce risen above the horizon when the last chapter in Alberta's most fatal blood-redding tragedy had been written, and the law was avenged for the slaying of its other Constable Steve Lawson, at Coleman, last September.

Dawn Just Breaking
Dawn had just begun faintly to illuminate the eastern sky when the little solemn group of jail officials approached the death cell, where Picariello had lain for the past four months. The door clanged open for the prisoner for the last time. Preceded by Warden Griggs and Sheriff Rae, with three guards, and accompanied by Father Fideles, Franciscan monk and priest of the little parish church here, Picariello walked with unflinching steps to the scaffold.

As hangman Wakefield stepped up to him to put the black cap on him, Picariello growled: "That's what I've earned. I can face what's ahead with my eyes open."

It was explained that the law insisted that the black cap must be worn, and the request was refused. "You are hanging an innocent man, God help me," said Picariello, and he stepped upon the trap. It was then exactly fifteen minutes after five.

Ten minutes later the body was removed.

The Woman Follows
Mrs. Lasandro followed Picariello to the scaffold within the hour. She has been a series of tragic followings for Florence Lasandro since she followed Picariello into the heretofore by-paths of whisky-running across the British Columbia border in the Crow's Nest.

She followed Picariello into the death car when they made their mad dash of revenge into Coleman that ended in the slaying of Constable Steve Lawson.

She followed him into the hands of the law, and now she has followed him into eternity.

The little procession again formed up, this time with the matron as well as Father Fideles, accompanying the prisoner.

Mrs. Lasandro had spent the night

In prayer with the priest. She ate no breakfast, contrasting with the bacon and eggs, toast and coffee that Picariello ate with equanimity just before the death summons.

Falters at Scaffold
With firm step Florence Lasandro began the long walk from the women's building, across the jail yard, and to the gateway to eternity. She faltered at an instant as the grim scaffold was reached. The liquid notes of a robin suddenly and startlingly poured into the gloom of the morning, a draft of hope.

"Why do they hang me when I didn't do anything?" she asked the little group at the foot of the scaffold. "Is there no one here who's got any sympathy for me? I forgive everyone."

It was nine minutes to six when, the black cap and noose adjusted, Florence Lasandro plunged into eternity.

Eleven minutes later the body was removed.

Death Instantaneous
In each instance death was pronounced practically instantaneous. A request has been lodged with the jail authorities that the bodies be turned over to the relatives, through Father Fideles, and sent to Blainmore. The Italian colony there has been planning a demonstrative funeral. The request has been referred to the attorney-general. It is likely to be granted, with the proviso that burial be made in New Edinburgh.

Spent Last Hours Alone
The last twenty-four hours of the life of the man and woman were spent alone, except for the presence at intervals of Father Fideles. The last hour had been spent alone on Monday evening, when Charles Lasandro kissed his wife a long farewell, and when young Steve Picariello, the indirect cause of the whole tragedy, visited his father. It was Steve that was shot in the back by Constable Lawson during a bootlegging chase in the afternoon, and it was the report that his son, Steve, was shot that started Picariello's thoughts to murder on that same September day.

Exhausted by weeks of deferred, weak with long days and nights of contemplating the fate before him, Florence Lasandro took the news of the last decision of the federal cabinet with little visible show of emotion. Her father confessor has been with her many hours during the past weeks as she lay in the death cell. A fortnight ago, while waiting the verdict of the supreme court at Ottawa, the woman came close to utter collapse. She lay for hours in her cot, moaning and rocking restlessly. Later, she became calmer. Apparently, she had accepted her fate, and faced with the slowly opening portals of eternity, she sought the solace that Father Fideles offered her of a hope in the life hereafter.

Picariello Morose
Picariello has been morose and truculent throughout the night, to the very last, was not resigned to his fate. Perhaps, he had expected his fortune to be made in the morning, and he exempt him from paying the penalty of his hastily gotten revenge.

Picariello, since the decision of the supreme court at Ottawa, had no hope for reprieve. It was on the morning of the 24th that the anguish dashed again and again to the ground, and the greatest play, and the first of the original consummation of the original dress within her native nature.

Grim Rehearsals
Preparations for the public execution were completed at the Fort jail as darkness closed in on the house of doom last evening. Officers of the provincial police, the sheriff, the warden, the coroner, the jail physician were in conference in the warden's office late in the afternoon to see that gruesome structure of rough boarding was complete. During the morning, scales of vermin, approximating the weight of the condemned couple, were tested on the new homages rope in order that their breaking point might be carefully ascertained. The hangman examined all the appliances of death during the afternoon and pronounced them sufficient to their ghastly task.

Council Visits Prisoners
Last Friday J. McKinstry Cameron, who defended the couple, paid long visits to each. It was during this visit with her mother, present, and before several jail officials, that Florence Lasandro made the statement that was wired by the Attorney-General to the minister of Justice, and that reached the public through Fernie on Tuesday morning.

The last word had been said in the Picariello-Lasandro case, the last gesture made. The law has balanced the ledger. The man and the woman have paid for blood with blood.

HOW WIVES KEEP THEIR HUSBANDS UP TO STANDARD
They may dislike to admit it, but many husbands owe their fine appearance to their wives. The average man is inclined to be careless about his dress and social obligations. In his absorption in business he is likely to neglect his personal appearance, but his wife, by her example, keeps him up to the mark. The careful wife keeps him jacked up on all the details of his appearance. "You must get some new ties, my dear," she will say, or "You must get a new hat; your old one and your suit are getting shabby; you don't dress as a man in your position should. You know you are judged by your appearance, so don't neglect to have your coat and trousers cleaned and pressed; it will freshen them up wonderfully."

How many men, careless about dress and personal appearance, are thus kept to standard by their wives, but for whom they would go about looking disgracefully shabby and unkempt?

These are little things, you say, compared with the great essentials of life. True, but it is the little things that make your home a happy nest—the little kindnesses, the little courtesies, the little kisses, the clinging of the children on your knees, the little attentions that endear the members of the family to one another.

The more we wear become a part of our personalities, and if we are not particular about them and the details of our toilet, people will infer that we are not particular about ourselves, about keeping ourselves a wholesome or fit condition.

If you want to progress, to get on in life, you must give proper attention to your appearance. You will find it will pay you in many ways to be particular about what you wear, and under no circumstances, if it can be avoided, to wear things that are shabby, that do not fit, or that are not becoming to you. If you are becomingly dressed, and well groomed, you will naturally make a better impression on others and on yourself than if you are ill-dressed and unkempt. You will have more self-respect and more self-confidence; and this will make you more efficient and more successful.

DELORE MUST STAND TRIAL

In accordance with forecasts, Abbe Adelaire Delorme has now been informed that he will be taken to Montreal at a suitable time to stand his trial as the June term of the Criminal Assizes. The communication was made by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, previous to his departure for the United States last week, but no official announcement is available. The future status of the abbe has been decided in accordance with his own wishes and the certificates issued by Dr. Brochu, Superintendent of the St. Michel Asylum. The date of the transfer of Abbe Delorme to the Bordeaux Jail or other place of detention now depends on the decision reached by the Attorney-General or the Cabinet, to which the matter will be most likely submitted in view of its importance. The confidential character surrounding the answer of the Lieutenant-Governor to the abbe's petition, which was authoritatively stated to have been transmitted to Mr. Alwyn Tschersner, K.C., has made it impossible to ascertain what were the exact contents of the document. Mr. Tschersner refused to make any comment, but, pressed by The Globe representative, to state whether he had received a confidential document from his Honor, he admitted he had and expressed his satisfaction over the recent developments. He also stated that he had no objection to stating that he was convinced that his client would face the June term of the Criminal Court in Montreal unless unforeseen circumstances developed, which was not probable. "If you want any further information," he added, "ask Sir Charles Fitzpatrick. I cannot make any statement at this point."

WEEKLY NEWS

BULLETIN

Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Government Buildings, Edmonton.
Tourist Traffic for Alberta

A large increase in tourist traffic to the famous mountain resorts of Alberta is expected the coming summer as a result of the opening of the last link in the grand circle tour of the Western States and Alberta, namely, the stretch of highway between Banff, Alberta, and Windermere, B.C. The official opening of this road will take place June 20. By its completion, a circle tour covering the most famous scenic trips on the continent is made possible. This circle highway leads up from the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in Arizona, through Utah and Salt Lake to Great Falls and Glacier National Park in Montana, thence through Waterton Lakes Park on the southern border of Alberta, to Calgary via Macleod, thence west to Banff and Lake Louise, thence south over the new Windermere road into the Columbia Valley and into the state of Washington, and on south into California. A circle tour of the Canadian Rockies of 567 miles in extent is also made possible through the Crown's vast stretch of Macleod and Lethbridge, up the Kootenay Valley over the Windermere road to Banff and east to Calgary, and back south to Macleod.

Interest in Alberta Keen.
Judging by the large number of inquiries concerning Alberta which have been received since the first of the year by the Publicity Branch of the Provincial Government, interest in Alberta remains keen in many parts of the United States and other countries. Over 400 such inquiries have been answered in the last three months. A new map of the province on a small scale, printed in six colors and showing the railways and main highways, the natural resources, and different classes of land, the altitudes and other information has been issued and is being used by the publicity department for publicity and immigration purposes.

Retire from Service.
Retirements from the provincial government service during the past week include H. G. Dinsdale, head of the highways commission; Alex. Galbraith, superintendent of fairs and institutes of the agricultural department; A. P. O'Brien, director of surveys of the public works department; J. W. Mitchell, of Calgary, superintendent of labor bureaus, and others.

These retirements have been occasioned by the reorganization of the governmental branches which is now taking place in accordance with the government's policy of economy, and which involves the reduction of the staffs of some of the departments, and the consolidation of the work of different branches. A considerable reduction has already taken place in some of the staffs. The work of the superintendent of fairs and institutes will be consolidated with that of the provincial veterinarian under Dr. Talbot. The supervision of the provincial labor bureaus is being concentrated in the office of Walter Smith, labor commissioner. Re-organization of other departments is being carried out.

To Leave Service Shortly.
A. G. Browning, for a number of years deputy attorney-general, will leave the service of the Alberta government in the near future, and will move to Ontario, for reasons of health.

New Clerk of Legislature
Robert A. Anderson, who for twelve sessions has been acting clerk of the legislature, has been appointed as clerk to succeed the late John R. Cowell.

First Wheat to Show
Reports from the Lethbridge district are to the effect that the first wheat was showing above ground last week at Wilson Sliding.

Free Transportation Ceases
The arrangement between the provincial and federal governments and railway companies for free transportation of settlers from drought areas to other parts of the province will cease on June 1, and no certificates will be issued by the department of agriculture at Edmonton after May 5. This was the same action as was taken last year at this time.

To Be Exhibited in Britain
The grade shorthorn steer bred at the University, which won championships at Toronto and Quebec livestock shows last winter, and was one of the three that won the Prince of Wales special, has been shipped to England by private purchasers for exhibition purposes.

Much Interest in Irrigated Land
Several very satisfactory sales have been made recently by the irrigation council of land in the new irrigated section of the Lethbridge-Northern project. Several parcels in the district have also been rented to irrigation farmers.

To Visit Alberta Mines
A party of McGill mining students will visit Alberta shortly, to inspect some of the mines in the province.

Noted Alberta Soldier Dies
The death of Major Leon Eckenfelder, one of the founders of Trochu, Alberta, and later an official of the provincial department of agriculture, took place this week in Edmonton. Major Eckenfelder came to Alberta over twenty years ago, and his distinction and became a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France.

Alberta Man Honoured
Dean E. A. Howes, of the college of agriculture of Alberta, has been elected president of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists.

Mere Coal for Ontario
A carload of coal from the Lethbridge district is to be sent to Ontario for demonstration purposes.

We overheard a little conversation the other day between two of our well known youths. It went something like this:
H—What do you think of the girls wearing longer skirts?
B—Oh, I don't mind. I have a good memory.

RED DEER FAIR

Directors Squaring Away for Big Event

The Fair Board directors met at the city hall on Saturday evening with Donald Smith, President; Bjorkeland, acting secretary; McKinnon, Stoen, Hogg, Patterson, Hill, Nicholas, Porter, Welliver, J. White, Cruckshank, A. Forrester, Van Slyke and Galbraith present.

Show Advertising
Firms from New York, Ky.; Montreal and New York city offered show printing and advertising. The Canadian Sportsman offered advertising. Referring to Advertising Committee.

Adding to Committee
Chiefly at the instance of the acting Secretary, Mr. Pike was added to the Beef Cattle committee, Mr. Richards to Rugs and Grains, Mr. Lord to Advertising, Dr. Cameron to Racing, while the Attractions committee will consist of the President, Secretary, Welliver, Van Slyke and Hogg.

Horse Jumping Attraction
Mr. W. J. Stark, secretary Edmonton fair, spoke a good word for Miss Dorothy Wood, of Edmonton, as an attraction for the Red Deer Fair. Miss Wood jumped her horse over an automobile. Referred to Attractions.

Mr. Huxley, secretary "B" Fairs Association, outlined the plan of the fair which the northern fairs had decided upon. The classes would be reduced.

Spec. Prize
The Aberdeen-Angus Association offered a prize of $25 for two get of sire, bred and owned by exhibitor. The Canadian Standardbred Horse Society will award diplomas for and the prize of $100 for the best Standardbred classes at the Red Deer Fair, if registered in the Canadian stud book.

Provincial Grant Reduced
The Provincial Department of Agriculture notified the fair board that the Government grant this year would be $60,000, instead of $60,000, as in the past two or three years. The rate of grant for the province is reduced from 50¢ to 25¢ for all societies having less than 150 members. Mr. Bjorkeland had had word from the provincial office had been abolished, and the work was in future to be handled by the regular staff of the Province, the department of Agriculture, Mr. Bjorkeland spoke very highly of Mr. Galbraith's work for the fairs.

Prize List Amount
The total prize offered in prize this year was discussed some length. It was finally agreed that $45,000, to be paid in prize, $45,000, of this estimated to be paid out. On this basis the Provincial grant would be $2,500 as compared with the $3,000 of the year 1922. It was decided to appoint Messrs. Bjorkeland, Wilson and Galbraith to prepare a budget which will be presented along with the report of the Prize List committee, at a directors' meeting to be held on Saturday evening, April 24, at the city hall.

Advises for Secretary
It was decided to call for a Secretary, tenders to be either for three months or a year from June 1, and the successful bidder to receive $1,000, to be stated by applicant, applications to be in by May 15.

Consider Having a Stampede or other sports event to raise funds for the Borden memorial fund. Mr. Patterson. According to the figures they had obtained to put on a good stampede could cost $25,000, though Mr. Patterson was satisfied Mr. Bagley's figures could be trimmed many thousands. Mr. Hogg pointed out that May 24, June 4, June 24, and June 24, and the least interesting and informative of the three was written by the youngest member of the Society, Master Sydney Smith, son of the President.

Mrs. Cassella read first of all a clipping consisting of a letter by Mr. P. A. Taverner, on "Appreciation of Canadian Bird-music." She also read the short essay referred to above on the appearance and habits of the Killdeer Plover. Lastly, Mrs. Powell gave a brief review of some of her observations on edible and other fairs, illustrated by wash drawings of specimens made by herself.

Correspondence indicating an enquiry from Mrs. A. T. Martin, of Vulcan, regarding wild flowers in the province. Mr. C. McCalla went with reference to pictures for exhibition. He did not have enough notice this year, but if a similar exhibition is held next year, he hopes to have some flower photos included.

The secretary reported the photographic exhibition held recently in the city hall. The money taken in exactly paid expenses to the cent. Quite a large number of Red Deer people saw the exhibition, and were very pleased with it.

The programme for next month will probably be a paper by Mr. D. M. Sinclair, of Eckville.

LIFE INSURANCE FIGHT

The Life Underwriters of Alberta are staging a competition for the month of May this year. It is of interest, not only to those engaged in the business of life insurance, but to the general public. The Edmonton branch office has challenged those of Calgary, and the latter have accepted the challenge, for a contest to prove which Division can produce the largest volume of paid-up business during the month. It will thus be largely a fight between North and South Alberta, and as the life insurance business is regarded as a fairly accurate barometer of general business conditions, the result will be watched with interest.

CONDOR U.F.A.

Members of the above Local met at the Condor Community Hall on Saturday, April 28, at 9 o'clock, with A. L. Macdonald presiding.

Under the heading of new business, it was moved by H. Meeres and seconded by J. Stanhouse, that the Condor U.F.A. have a hot-holiday every Saturday for sports and recreation during June, July and August.

A DISAPPOINTING ANNOUNCEMENT

Hon. Charles Stewart has made his one and only awaited statement to Parliament outlining the immigration policy of the Dominion Government. That statement has, however, failed to arouse any enthusiasm either in Parliament or throughout the country; in fact, taken on the whole, it has proved a grievous disappointment to all who were expecting real action in regard to this subject which is admittedly of such vital importance to the "future" development and prosperity of Canada.

The lengthy delays before the Minister's announcement had given rise to strong hopes that a far-reaching and comprehensive immigration policy was being evolved. These hopes have been dashed, because there is nothing new, original or vigorous in the plans laid before Parliament; on the contrary, the policy outlined is so timid, and so palpably follows the lines of least resistance, that it has called for strong criticism from the staunchest of Liberal newspapers and outspoken opposition from Government supporters in the House.

No one will attempt to deny the truth of Mr. Stewart's statement, that anyone who could formulate an immigration policy for Canada, that would be satisfactory to all people would need to be a great deal more than a Minister of the Crown. Mr. Stewart talks optimistically of securing 200,000 immigrants for Canada this year, but if that number is achieved, it will be not because of the Government's plans, but in spite of them and because people cannot be wholly kept away from Canada.

And, after all, what are 200,000 new settlers in a country of Canada's immense area and almost incalculable wealth of undeveloped natural resources, and which is now about the least thickly populated country in the world? Two hundred thousand additional people can be absorbed in Canada almost without being noticed, especially as it is an admitted fact that this Dominion loses tens of thousands of people annually to the United States. This Dominion should aim at receiving 200,000 from the British alone, and as many more from all other countries combined.

At a time when Australia is getting thousands of British settlers under the Empire Settlement scheme, the Canadian Government hesitates to adopt a really effective policy whereby this Dominion would receive its full share of immigrants from the Old Country. Instead, the Government seems to place its chief reliance in the Canada Colonization Association. Granted that the Government should utilize to full advantage any and every reputable agency for the obtaining of settlers, such as the Association referred to, the C. P. R., the Canadian Northern Railway, the Empire Settlement scheme, these should be but auxiliaries to the main Government effort.

Apparently the short-sighted attitude adopted by the leaders of organized labor on the question of immigration is largely responsible for the weak-kneed attitude of the Government. Labor, as has been repeatedly pointed out in this column is standing in its own light. No sane Canadian desires to see wages reduced in Canada below that which will guarantee the worker not merely a decent but a good standard of living, but the fact remains that the average Canadian is not prepared to do the "rough" work which is required to be done in order that raw materials and means of transportation shall be available for our industries, and without such class of labor, Canada's resources must remain undeveloped and her industries languish.

Furthermore, just so long as this class of labor is lacking, and wages remain at or close to the pearly reached during the abnormal war years, costs of production and transportation must remain so high that the average resident cannot afford to purchase as freely as he otherwise would. The inevitable result is decreased sales, smaller production and unemployment, and the greater the unemployment, the smaller the sales and the lower the production. A return to more normal conditions—which a large volume of immigration would assist to bring—would mean increase in the purchasing power of the dollar, and even with a somewhat lower wage, the workman would find himself better off, purchases would increase, industry revive, and employment become more general. But organized labor persistently refuses to recognize these economic truths, and deliberately closes its eyes to the fact that there is ever a point where high costs of production operate to curtail and even altogether stop production, which means unemployment. Surely it would be better to have all employed at a reasonable wage, than to have some workmen employed at exceptionally high wages in limited production and others in idleness because work cannot be obtained.

Nevertheless, the advocates of this shortsighted view appear to have the ear of the Government, thus bringing economic losses not alone on themselves but the whole country. The only bright spot in this immigration muddle at Ottawa is the unofficial announcement that a separate Department of Immigration is to be created, because it is only human nature that anyone appointed to that portfolio will be anxious to show results and justify his appointment. Perhaps, then, some life will be breathed into the dead bones of our national business of obtaining more, and many more people for this thinly populated Dominion.

SAD FATALITY AT PONOKA

BULLETIN OF ALBERTA AMATEUR BASEBALL ASSOC'N

Calgary, 1st May, 1923.
In order to encourage amateur ball in Alberta, an effort will be made to circulate an official bulletin, semi-monthly during the season. To all amateur ball clubs in the province, whether members of the A.A.B.A. or otherwise. Any items that members of the A.A.B.A. wish brought before the other members through the medium of this bulletin, should be sent to the Hon. Sec. Treas. 219, P. Burns Building, Calgary.

Playing certificates are now ready and can be obtained from the Hon. Sec. Treas. Be sure and state which series you require, and enclose 25c fee for each certificate.

The 1923 Handbook is in the printer's hands; when it will be issued depends upon three items: 1st—How quickly the various clubs and leagues send in the names and addresses of their 1923 Secretary; 2nd—How quickly the various leagues send in their nominations for representatives upon the Board of Governors; and, 3rd—How quickly we can secure advertising to aid in the cost of the Handbook.

The Handbook this year will contain the full regulations of the Calgary Amateur Baseball Association, Ltd., Amateur Baseball Challenge Trophy. In the meantime a supply of these rules have been mimeographed and will be sent to anyone interested upon request.

New league games are being organized and affiliated to the A.A.B.A. this season. The general Alberta Amateur League will comprise Red Deer, Lacombe, Ponoka and Bentley. The Secretary of the League is Archie Macdonald of Lacombe. The Southern Alberta League will consist of: St. Mary's, Valcartier and Nanton. The Secretary of the league has not yet been appointed. Hillcrest, Bellevue and Pincher Creek have organized Junior League. Blairmore, Coleman, Bellevue, Pincher Creek and Cowley are organizing a Senior League. The Southern Alberta Amateur League has re-organized and will this year include two teams from each of the following towns: Calgary, Cardston, Raymond, Magrath and Spring Creek.

In addition other leagues are in process of organizing, viz.: Bassano, Brooks and Patricia; Glenora, Carleton Place and Langdon; Rockyford, Carbon and Hussar or Standard. The Ghost Pine League, which comprised Pincher, Three Hills, Swanton, last year, are also busy. It is also expected that Huxley, Elmore, Lonsdale and Delburne will link up together again.

The first challenge for the Brewery Trophy has been received from Goddard's Red Sox of Edmonton, senior amateur champions for 1921 and 1922.

The Bawlf team, who are holders of the Brewery Trophy, have re-organized and will be ready to defend the Trophy when the season opens.

All challenges for the Trophy should be sent to the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Sam Savage, at Calgary. Challenges will be played off in the order they are received.

A three-team league is operating in Medicine Hat this season, and the opening game is scheduled for Wednesday, 5th May. Hustlers, Y.M.C.A. and Riverdales will be the three teams in the Calgary Senior league this season. The Four-ox Club disbanded.

ORPHAN GIRL FINDS FORTUNE

Strathroy citizens are much excited and pleased over the wonderful discovery of a long-lost treasure which has come into possession of a deserving orphan girl, Miss Elizabeth Jefferson. Miss Jefferson, who is now 24 years old, was adopted 15 years ago by a well-to-do family named McNeill living near Strathroy. The family consisted of an old bachelor, John McNeill, and his two maiden sisters. Each in turn died on approach of old age and the last survivor, Miss Ann McNeill, passed away a few months ago. The adopted child was not provided for in her will, the property all going to other relatives. Miss Jefferson, a few days ago, in preparing to leave the home where she had resided with Miss McNeill, was ransacking an old trunk, and, much to her surprise, came across a great bundle of old Traders' Bank bills, amounting in all to $4,300. The Traders' Bank notes were absorbed by the Royal Bank, and the bills are perfectly good. They had been laid away by late John McNeill, and, according to local opinion, appear to be the rightful possession of the finder, Miss Jefferson. Everybody here is much pleased at the good fortune that has befallen the very deserving young lady, who is present working as a saleslady in one of the local stores.

The execution of two more irregulars was announced by the Free State authorities at Dublin, Wednesday. Christopher Quinn and Wm. Shaughnessy had been found guilty of killing a Free State soldier at Ennis, County Clare, April 21.
